Year 1 GP placements

from Dr. Sarah Jahfar Year 1 Lead and Alison Capey Year 1 GP placement co-ordinator

This year we have been overwhelmed by the generosity of practices offering to teach Year 1. Many of you have, very graciously, taken on even more students than you originally offered in order to help us meet our target. This situation is quite unprecedented and we just wanted to say an enormous THANK YOU to all of our GP colleagues and Practice Managers who work so hard to make this happen for us and our students.

New GP Engagement Lead role

This month Dr Simon Thornton joins us at CAPC Teaching in the role of 'GP Engagement Lead' having worked with us as an academic clinical fellow for the last two years. With the planned expansion of undergraduate teaching in general practice at the university over the next five years, there is a fantastic opportunity for more practices to get involved in teaching medical students. Simon will be working to help expand the teaching of practices that already take medical students, as well as looking to recruit new teaching practices. As part of this work, we will be surveying all our teaching practices, so please keep your eyes peeled for this! If you currently do not teach, but would like to get involved, please contact phc-teaching@bristol.ac.uk. We'd love to welcome you to the team.

Got an interest in nutrition and exercise? Want to teach?

Please read on

Dear Colleagues,

We are running PREVENT! whole day Tuesday 29th November. PREVENT! is one of our "Central Study Days" for Year 3 students and the theme is preventive medicine with a focus on nutrition and exercise. We are seeking generalists to work as group facilitators (group size ~ 12) for the day. Normal GP rates apply (approx. £215/half day). Active interest in nutrition and exercise essential including experience in engaging patients with lifestyle issues. Specialist knowledge is not required - enthusiasm is. We are trying to recruit from the trainee workforce (they come free!) but there will be a need for some experienced GPs. There is no training but quality written materials and a briefing from 8.15am on the day. The day ends at 5pm. If you apply we will confirm by 14th October. For further information or to apply email Trevor Thompson (trevor.thompson@bris.ac.uk).

Maternity locum cover

Would you like to become part of our teaching team? Veronica Boon, our SSC lead, will be going on maternity leave. The locum will run from 22 Nov 2016 - 20 Nov 2017. You can find the job description here

Healthy City Week 15th –

22nd October

Dear Colleagues in Bristol and beyond,

Bristol Cathedral

15-22nd October is "Healthy City Week" in Bristol with >200 events for public and professionals. Go here for the on-line programme and here to download the complete programme. The range of events is pretty incredible - I'd love the week off to attend. Can I draw your attention to one particular event because I have organised it along with colleagues here in Primary Care. "Bristol Loves Bugs" is in the City Hall at 2.30-5pm on Saturday 22nd October. It is an exploration of the human microbiome, the impact of antibiotics and nutritional ideas for microbiomic health. The keynote is the formidable Professor Tim Spector from KCL. Tickets are £5.90 from Eventbrite. I'd commend this for your CPD and general enlightenment.
