Have you booked your teaching for 2011-12?

We have started allocating students to practices. Please send in any requests to phc-teaching@bristol.ac.uk asap if you haven't done so already.

Have you considered becoming a 'Core Teaching Practice'? These practices teach in all 5 years and in return receive enhanced pay. Open to practices in or close to Bristol. Please email the Teaching Office for more info.

Would you like to become an academic mentor?

In January 2012 the medical school set up a new robust system of mentors to nurture the professional and career development of undergraduate medical students within Bristol University.

This scheme is intended to achieve the following

- Give recognition to the professional status of students from year 1 as "doctors of the future". As the students mature they would progress to "doctors in waiting".
- To help students establish their professional identity, creating a roadmap for medical training throughout the 5 years of the undergraduate curriculum, and linking with the Foundation Programme and further post-graduate training.
- To allow an ongoing, and in part student generated, record of academic achievements. This record to be designed to produce the reference to support professional progress, F1 applications etc.
- To guide professional and career decision making.

Many GPs are already mentors in this new scheme. In September, we are extending the scheme to Year 3 and Year 4 students and so are recruiting more mentors. We propose that each Academic Mentor looks after 5 students and meets them twice a year.

For more information please email the Academic Mentor coordinator, Chris Cooper at chris.cooper@bristol.ac.uk This scheme carries the title of Honorary Senior Lecturer.

2012 Holiday reads

Like to have your nose in a book when on holiday? Rohinton Mistry's Family matters has narrative sweep and gentle humour.

If you are looking for something medical and haven't read it already, you might like to try John Diamond's Because cowards get cancer too. Or, if you simply don't have the time for reading but don't want to be left out of any discussions about books why not invest in reading a short book by Pierre Bayard called How to talk about books you haven't read. He advances the argument that reading is not really different from 'non-reading'. All evidence based of course...
