

PLN stories: Placements

Alice Lamb

BS3 Community

We are a small team so having students on placement is really helpful for us, especially in helping us set up new projects. We are a charity that responds to the needs of our community, and we are very proud of what we do so it's nice to share that with students looking to work in the charity sector.

Our placement student went above and beyond with every task we set her, and the experience exceeded our expectations. She was efficient, thorough, and professional when carrying out research and representing the charity.

Our student supported us with setting up and carrying out two new services for the charity. Her work on the project meant we were able to roll out the services more quickly and smoothly.

One of the highlights of the placement was our student's help with our 'Pass the Parcel' project over Christmas. She organised donations and delivered parcels to low-income families in the area, and her help was so greatly appreciated by us and the residents receiving them.

To any students thinking of taking part in the scheme, my advice would be to ask to get involved with the things you find interesting, and don't be afraid to ask lots of questions.

“Our student's support allowed us to roll out our new services more quickly and smoothly.”
