

Student stories: Consultancy Unit

Tia McGrath

Management (BSc)

The Management Consultancy unit appealed to me as I'm planning to pursue a career in the field, and the opportunity to work on a real-life consulting project for a charity was an exciting prospect to me.

I was assigned to a consulting project that matched my academic interests and complimented my previous units. My team and I were guided through the process of understanding our clients wants and needs to create a project plan. Once our plan was approved, we conducted in-depth research to create an informative report personalised to the client's needs.

As the primary client contact for the group I learnt how to build professional relationships, hosting meetings and keeping them up to date with the our progress to ensure they were happy with the project. At the end of the project my team and I also presented our ideas to the client. I thoroughly enjoyed working with my team on this project and found it extremely rewarding to hear that our recommendations are being implemented and will benefit our client's charity.

This unit provided the theoretical knowledge of how to be a successful consultant, as well as allowing me to build practical skills and invaluable experience, which will aid my future career. I thoroughly recommend taking this unit as it helped me build an abundance of skills and gave me something impressive to talk about in my applications and interviews.
