The screenshot shows the Research Data Repository website. At the top is a search bar with the text "Search the Research Data Repository" and a search icon. Below the search bar is a large image of a satellite dish with the caption "Data Relay over the Andes by Henry Lee". To the right of the image is a text block titled "The data.bris Research Data Repository" which describes the University of Bristol's mission and the repository's purpose. Below this are six smaller boxes, each representing a different research area: Arts, Biomedical Sciences, Engineering, Health Sciences, Science, and Social Sciences and Law. Each box includes a small icon and a brief description of the research focus.
