Of note section 3.6 page 9 of 22:

“Bullying and Harassment You must have clear, well-publicised policies, processes and training in place consistent with good practice as recommended by the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service’s (ACAS) ‘Bullying and Harassment in the Workplace: A Guide for Managers and Employers’ or equivalent framework. We expect you to take an organisation-wide approach to prevention, including appropriate leadership and management training and dedicated support on bullying and harassment. Where relevant you should take into account guidance and advice set out by:

- 1752 Group, on addressing staff sexual misconduct
- the Office for Students, on handling harassment and sexual misconduct in higher education
- the Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Students in Higher Education, on handling student complaints and academic appeals”

UKRI’s Preventing Harm (Safeguarding) in Research and Innovation policy sets out how we expect to be informed about incidences of bullying and harassment relating to UKRI funded activity and the actions we may take where we identify that institutions do not have robust processes in place.”

Research Misconduct:

Of note in the section: “Allegations of poor research conduct should be considered through the relevant research organisation's own misconduct procedures. Full details of the process that should be followed is contained in the UK Research and Innovation Policy and Guidelines on Governance and Good Research Conduct.

Research organisations must keep EPSRC informed of any allegations of misconduct wherever the case concerns individuals and/or research awards funded by us.”

For matters concerning research integrity, or if you are an organisation funded by UKRI and need to report an allegation of research misconduct, please contact the designated contacts: EPSRC: ben.ryan@epsrc.ukri.org as outlined:

<https://www.ukri.org/about-us/policies-standards-and-data/good-research-resource-hub/research-integrity/>

“If you consider that there has been scientific misconduct involving activities funded by EPSRC, you should initially contact the relevant authorities in the institution employing the person concerned. If you are unable to progress the matter with the institution you should write to The Professional Support Unit, EPSRC, Polaris House, North Star Avenue, Swindon, SN2 1ET or email to The Professional Support Unit. Correspondence should be copied to Nicola Goldberg, Deputy Director Planning, Operations and Governance, EPSRC, Polaris House, North Star Avenue, Swindon, SN2 1ET or via email to Nicola.Goldberg@epsrc.ac.uk.”

Of note section 4 page 7 of 11

“Where an allegation of research misconduct is about someone funded by, or engaged with, Research Council(s) (including acting as a supervisor for a Research Council postgraduate student or engaged with peer review activities), even if it is about work not connected with a grant from a Research Council, the case should be reported to the relevant Council at the stage that it is decided to undertake an informal inquiry – i.e. that there is a reasonable case that research misconduct may have occurred. Depending on outcomes, the relevant Council should also be informed at the following stages:

- When the outcome of the informal enquiry is known (e.g. whether the allegation is dismissed or taken through to a formal investigation)
- When the outcome of the formal investigation is known (e.g. whether the case is dismissed or a disciplinary hearing is arranged)
- When the outcome of the disciplinary hearing is known, and what it was.

The Councils reserve the right to take appropriate action about any duties being performed for them at any stage during the process.”

Of note in section 6, page 7-8 of 16

“There should be an agreed process in place for sharing information about upheld allegations against individuals directly involved in the research and innovation activity, and/or risks to the activity by the partner organisations...Organisations must inform UKRI of the concern or incident in a timely manner so that UKRI can work with the organisation to determine an appropriate course of action to mitigate the risk that harm, or further harm, could occur. The report should provide a brief factual statement about the nature of the concern or incident, any action taken and any further planned action. No personal information should be included in the report.

Of note in section 6.2, pages 8 and 9 of 16 6.2, “How organisations should respond to unacceptable personal conduct, requires that we:

- In an impartial, fair and timely manner, investigate allegations that a member of staff or student has exploited, abused or harmed another member of staff, student, associated personnel, research and innovation participant or member of the general public. It must:
- protect the rights of all individuals involved
- take a victim/survivor-centred approach, listen and take concerns seriously, and provide appropriate support for the victim/survivor
- take appropriate action
- Have processes and procedures in place to review and manage the risks associated with the continued involvement of an individual in a UKRI grant application or UKRI-funded activity while an allegation of exploitation, abuse or harm is investigated.
- If, following the investigation, the allegation of exploitation, abuse or harm against an individual directly involved in a UKRI-funded activity is upheld, the organisation must notify UKRI of the investigation and the decision in a timely manner. Notification should include:
- a brief factual statement about the nature of the allegation
- the findings of the investigation
- what, if any, disciplinary action is being taken and/or remedies are being given to the victim/survivor
- what, if any, changes to policy and practice have been implemented in response to this case and what assurances will be put in place as to their effectiveness”
