

Centre for Ethics in Medicine

Other Voices, Other Rooms:
Bioethics, then and now

Other Voices, Other Rooms: Bioethics, then and now

Amongst the themes that have been detected in Truman Capote's celebrated novel are those of coming of age and embracing one's identity, understanding others, and caring (and being cared for).

Searching – for oneself and for those to whom one is relationally bound – emerges as a central issue. As EACME comes of age and celebrates its 25th anniversary in Bristol – a city whose docks have launched many a quest – this provides an ideal opportunity to reflect on the identity of European medical ethics, and the many places and people with whom it is intimately bound.

'Other Voices, Other Rooms' is therefore the theme for this silver anniversary conference, which looks to celebrate and investigate the many contributions which have been made to date, and speculate about the developments we might anticipate as the field continues to evolve and expand.

*University of Bristol
Wills Hall of Residence, where the 2012 EACME conference will be held.*

The Friday evening will culminate in a special gala dinner, to be held on the SS Great Britain.

The voices and rooms of bioethics, then and now

- European bioethics in the past
- European bioethics in the present
- European bioethics in the future
- Bioethics at home and away

Bioethics in social rooms

- Bioethics in policy, boardrooms & courtrooms
- Bioethics in studios & virtual rooms
- Bioethics in context
- Bioethics in society

Bioethics in clinical rooms

- Bioethics from theory to practice
- Bioethics in health care practice
- Clinical ethics in practice
- Research ethics in practice

Bioethics in academic rooms

- Bioethics in theory
- Disciplines in bioethics
- Methods in bioethics
- Bioethics in classrooms

EACME 2012 25th Anniversary Conference Committees

President

Professor Ruud ter Meulen

Scientific Committee

Professor Ruud ter Meulen (Chair)

Dr Zuzana Deans

Dr Lucy Frith

Dr Richard Huxtable

Dr Ainsley Newson

Rev Dr Jonathan Pye

Professor Gordon Stirrat

Organising Committee

Professor Ruud ter Meulen (Chair)

Dr Richard Huxtable

Ms Mari-Rose Kennedy

Miss Penny Eiberg

Dr Ainsley Newson

Ms Behnaz Schofield

For further information contact

eacme2012-admin@bristol.ac.uk