St Michael's Fellowship offer robust residential parenting assessments. At Forty Six (46 Herne Hill) we specialise in working with parents with learning difficulties and disabilities.

We ensure we work with an awareness of the Good Practice Guidance to support all families residing with us to have a fair and accessible assessment, during which we employ the use of CHANGE, easy read, PAMS tools, advocacy services, and other resources developed in-house to support parents in their communication and learning.

We also offer comparative PAMS assessments over a 14- week period, within the first three weeks utilising the PAMS tools to identify areas for teaching, then implementing the teaching and support over the next eight weeks, and repeating the PAMS tools in the final weeks to provide a comparison of areas of need and identifying the capacity for change.

impact of their parents' needs on them and their educational experiences, in order for them to thrive and achieve in schools. These children often have a very different experience of education to their peers. If this is not fully understood and supported, these young people may underachieve, be disaffected and experience social and emotional problems.

TRAINING

ParentAssess

Email: info@parentassess.com

Website: www.parentassess.com

If you are interested in becoming a ParentAssess Assessor or you are a Local Authority or organisation wishing to book a training course please contact us.

Becoming an Assessor:

You must be registered with SW England and have two years of post-qualifying experience.

We believe it is important that assessors understand the issues facing parents who have learning disabilities and additional needs. Although prior experience is valuable, these skills are covered on the ParentAssess Training and additional courses are available. Because the child's experience is central to the assessment process the training pays particular attention to developing skills in observing the parent/child interaction and how to use video feedback.
