

The provision of reasonable adjustments for disabled people

Disabled people want hospital staff to:

Understand what reasonable adjustments are and why they are needed

Consistently and routinely record disabled people's needs

Provide reasonable adjustments - and share examples of good practice to support and embed them

Monitor the provision of reasonable adjustments, in conjunction with the disabled person themselves