Selection process

Assessment of applications

All applicants are considered in line with the University's Admissions Principles and Procedures Policy

Once a complete application has been submitted with all required supporting documents, it is considered by at least two members of staff using the following criteria:

- academic performance in undergraduate and masters degrees
- English language ability (where applicable). Applicants do not need to have reached the required level of English language before submitting an application. If necessary, English language will be included as a condition of offer.
- research statement: understanding of research topic and chosen methodology, awareness of relevant literature, and ability to identify a research contribution
- personal statement: comprehensive understanding of research, and level of motivation for doctoral study
- academic references

Interviews

Interviews form part of the selection process.

The purpose of the interview is to assess whether the applicant has the necessary skills and capabilities to pursue the chosen postgraduate programme, and whether the programme is appropriate to the applicant's interests and aspirations.

If required, interviewees based overseas will normally be interviewed by Skype, Zoom or similar platform (or telephone).

Decisions

Applicants will be notified by email when a decision has been made and decision letters will be available to view and print by logging into the application. If there is a deadline by which applicants must accept an offer of admission or pay a deposit, this will be stated in the offer letter.

Offers

Offers will typically be made in line with the academic requirements set out above.

Offers made may be conditional or unconditional. An unconditional offer will be made to applicants who have already met the conditions and provided evidence that conditions have been met. Where academic or language requirements have not yet been fulfilled, applicants will receive a conditional offer outlining the requirements that must be met.

If an applicant is not selected to receive an offer for the course to which they have originally applied, we may offer the opportunity to be considered for an alternative programme in a related subject area. In such cases applicants will receive an email notification providing any alternative course options and asking whether they wish to be considered for these. It may be necessary for applicants to submit additional documentation in order for the application to be fully considered for an alternative programme. Details of the documentation required can be found in the admissions statement for the relevant programme.

Results deadline

Applicants who receive a conditional offer will be required to submit all final results to meet their offer conditions by the date specified by the admissions team. Offer holders who will be unable to provide their final results by this date should email mgmt-pgr@bristol.ac.uk to notify the admissions team as soon as possible.

Deferrals

Deferrals are only selectively permitted for this programme depending on the reasons or circumstances raised. Otherwise, applicants are encouraged to re-submit their application for consideration following year.
